Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Mitchell reported favorably on the bill for the relief of Elizabeth Larson; passed.

Cockrell reported favorably on House bill for the relief of Mrs. James K. Polk, widow of ex-President Polk. It authorizes the payment of her claim, amounting to $1,00..., for supplies furnished the army during the late war, and over...

Hamilton called up the House bill to amend sections 18 and 2,510 of the act to revise and consolidate and amend the statute relating to the postoffice department in regard to straw bidding; passed.

The resolution to pay Pinchback, after a long and strong debate, in which the measure was amended in certain particulars was carried by 27 against 11—a strict party vote. Edmunds not voting.

Sargent called the resolution introduced by him some weeks ago, recommending changes in the treaty with China so as to prevent Chinese immigration, and modify it so as to read as follows:

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Senate negotiations should be entered upon with the governments of China and Great Britain to the effect that such changes in existing treaties which will tend to check the great influx of Chinese coolies and criminals to this country.

Sargent said the matter of Chinese immigration was a terrible evil to the Pacific coast, and the least the Senate could do was through the executive department to ask if the governments interested would co-operate with the United States to keep from our shores these criminals.

Edmunds said this subject was of too much importance for the Senate to decide hastily, however right the proposition of the Senator from California might seem to be. It might turn out on reflection that it was not right and ought not to be done. He moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Sargent opposed the reference and said he did so because the matter had been before the committee on foreign relations for the past year without any result. A year ago he presented a petition signed by two thousand leading citizens of San Francisco against Chinese immigration. He did not think he would be just to his people if he should consent to reference. There had been two political conventions held recently. The Republican convention at Cincinnati passed resolutions showing that the party was in sympathy with the people of the Pacific slope. The Democratic convention at St. Louis was more specific and positive, all going to show that the people of the country were in sympathy with the people of the Pacific coast. He thought the Senate should now take notice of matters and pass the resolution.

Edmunds said he did not consider it as unfriendly to the resolution to have it referred. It was an important subject and should be considered by the committee. He wanted to get at facts.

Hamilton opposed the resolution and said if this was the idea of American freedom it was time to pull out the tail feathers of the American eagle and clip his wings. [Laughter.]

Mr. Hamlin said Chinese immigration was an evil which demanded the serious attention of our Government, but it could not be settled by a resolution like this. He did not think it belonged to the Senate to indicate to the Executive what should or should not be done in negotiations with foreign powers. The Senate might make itself objectionable if it sought to say what should be the provisions of a treaty in advance.

Morton said he was satisfied the Executive would not act without having fullest information. The right way to get hold of this would be for the Senate to appoint a commission to investigate character and report.

Sargent said if he had the slightest hope of getting a report from that committee he would consent to it being referred with pleasure.

Edmunds' motion to refer the subject to the foreign relations committee was rejected—10 to 32—and Morton's substitute agreed to.

Webb, on behalf of the managers conducting the impeachment of Belknap, offered a resolution directing the Clerk of the House to appear before the Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, with such papers of the House as the managers may require, and giving permission to members of the committee on expenditures in the War Department to appear and give testimony before said court, and to produce such papers as the managers may require; adopted.

After witnesses for the prosecution were called, only three of whom—E. L. Bartlett, C. H. Morse and E. M. Lanton—answered, Manager Lynde opened the case on the part of the prosecution. Lynde then began the opening argument on the part of the managers, and gave a long recital of circumstances in which Marsh's contract with Belknap was concluded. At the end of the argument Adams, clerk of the House, was called as the first witness. At this point Black made a general objection that the Senate had not voted jurisdiction by a two thirds majority. After debate Carpenter offered the following: "Counsel for accused object to evidence now offered, and to all evidence, on the ground that there can be no legal conviction, one-third having already determined. It is a material and necessary fact that he is not and was not, when impeached, a civil officer of the United States." Overruled by unanimous vote.

Adams gave his testimony, which merely related to formalities.

Bartlett of New York, attorney, testified that he drew up the contract between Marsh and Evans. The defense declined to cross examine.

Morse was the next witness. He was Adams' express agent. He produced the books of the company showing the passage of parcels said to contain money, from Marsh to Belknap and Mrs. Belknap. He knew nothing of the contents except what was marked outside.

Dodge, clerk in the same company, testified that he delivered packages to Belknap and had his receipts therefore; also to Mrs. Belknap and had her receipts.

Crosby, chief clerk of the War Department, testified and identified Belknap's signature. Witness further testified to letters between Belknap and Marsh about the appointment of Evans.

Gen McDowell was the next witness. He testified to conversations with Belknap in which witness told him post traderships were a monopoly and that Belknap should see to it that it was not abused. Belknap agreed and required witness to draw an order to correct abuses, which he did. This order, requiring an examination of goods, fixing prices for selling and sub-letting, was subsequently promulgated by Belknap. The managers here attempted to offer the evidence of Gen. Hazen, which had been previously taken by the Senate; rejected, 20 against 31. Adjourned.

House.

On motion of Clark, from the postoffice committee, Senate amendment to bill providing penalty for mailing obscene matter was concurred in.

Seeley offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Interior for information in regard to what proportion of the Indian trust funds had been invested in securities, other than stocks of the United States since 1841; adopted.

The House then proceeded with the consideration of the Geneva award bill, and was addressed by Caulfield.

Holman presented the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill. He said the difference between the two houses had been a little less than three millions; that the Senate had yielded to an amount of $2,2..,000, and that the House had yielded to $36,000. He congratulated the people that the first appropriation that would become a law in the second century of the government was one in which there had been an earnest and sincere effort to retrench and restore purity to the administration.

Conger—Does the gentleman desire that this first bill of the new century shall restrict the postal facilities of the American people?

Holman—Not the time of a hair. The appropriations are reduced and yet the service will be as efficient and extensive as now.

The conference report was agreed to.

Randall reported that the conference committee on the legislative bill had been unable to agree. A debate ensued, which Randall put a stop to by moving the previous question, Republicans desiring further resort to filibustering.

House took up the Geneva award bill, rejected the bill of the minority and refused to lay the majority bill on the table by a vote of 96 to 113. Finally the bill was passed by 105 to 81.

The House proceeded to vote on the Geneva award bill. The first vote of importance was on a substitute offered by Lawrence to cover into the Treasury part of the awards. The substitute was rejected; yeas 67, nays 109.

Without proceeding further, adjourned.

A correspondent of the Union, writing from Colfax under date of June 20th, says: To-morrow the Coplen brothers are to exhibit their mammoth bones in Colfax. Mr. Coplen, who is now in town, informs me that from an excavation about 16 feet square they have taken out, between the depth of 10 and 12 feet, something over one hundred bones. They discovered them in some springs on Hangman creek, Stevens county. From the ... the springs have undoubtedly been a great watering place in ancient times for these animals. The settlers in Oneida county, Idaho, during the month of June pre-empted eight thousand acres of public lands, paying the Government ten thousand dollars for the same. They also filed homesteads on thirty-five hundred acres.

THE TORNADO.

Further Particulars of the Great Storm.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Further particulars of the storm near Dubuque, Iowa, on the night of the 4th. The little hamlet of Rockdale, three miles south of the city, was swept away with the besom of destruction. Every building in the town save Catfish mill was torn from its foundations and turned into a wreck that quite defies description. The dozen buildings, all that were located on the bottom lands of the Catfish creek, were carried down the storming and lashing current, dashing them into fragments that are indistinguishable and scattered for miles along the borders of the stream. Stores, shops, dwellings, barns and everything fell before the terrible tornado that came roaring in great surges down the ten miles of valley through which the Catfish river runs. Where eighteen hours ago was a quiet, and unassuming and happy little rural village is now only a waste of waters and timber, the wreck of buildings, of household merchandise and uprooted trees. For a full mile down the stream these fragments are strewn along the banks or piled in stacks from a few feet to twenty feet high. Thirty nine human beings were hurriedly swept from life into the great maelstrom of death. Men, women and children to that number were drowned, and the stiff bodies of the thirty that have been rescued up to this hour were ranged side by side along the side of the mill awaiting the last sad funeral rites. Some of the bodies were found in the debris of the crushed buildings near the scene of their death, while others and the greater part of them, were found all along the banks from a few rods to a mile down the stream. Some were almost entirely hidden from view by the floods of mud that had been swept along by the mad waters with perhaps only a hand exposed to sight, or a foot or a portion of the face, or perhaps only a small portion of their clothes. A large number of children, boys and girls ranging from three to twelve years of age comprise this dead holocaust, and altogether the scene was a most sickening one. Through the day the people of the village had joined more or less in the festive rites of the Centennial Fourth. In the evening the rain began to fall, and all took shelter in their homes or at the stores or saloons. About half an hour after midnight the Catfish had become so swollen that the streets were overflowing, and escape to the surrounding highlands cut off. Higher and higher rose the rushing waters, while the storm kept pitilessly on. Down rolled the surging water in great waves several feet high, and soon the smaller buildings were swept away. At about one o'clock a portion of the dam gave way, and this was followed by the crash of the railroad bridge, the fragments of which went tearing down, striking the hotel and Horne's store. Both of these were capsized, the former being torn in pieces and the latter swung against a large tree standing but a few feet away, against which it lodged, resting up against its side. Now the stream had grown to 2,000 feet in width and fully 20 feet deep. As the buildings were swept into the creek the inmates were hurried into the surging current, their voices crying out for help amidst the roar of the thunder and crash of the storm, while the lurid lightning flashed every minute, lighting up the dreadful scene for an instant, then leaving it blacker than before. John Klassen's cooper shop first gave way; then came the hotel barn, then Peter E. Becker's house, then Martin Carr's saloon, then Thomas Hickins' blacksmith shop, Peter Becker's market, Klassen's house, Becker's saloon and Horne's store and house. Mr. Horne and family luckily were saved. The house, as before stated, lodged against a strong tree. The water had risen and driven all the family into the upper story, where they clung to the rafters and other projections where they were able to keep their heads only above water. The dead are Joseph Becker, Ellen his wife and two children, Peter Becker and five children, also his housekeeper and her two children; Mrs Cony and two children, John Klassen, wife and five children, Mrs Kingsley, Thomas Blenks, Wm Bradbury and Richard Burke—39 in all. Altogether the scene was one to touch a heart of stone. Thousands of people have visited the scene during the day, and people are coming and going constantly. The neighbors, with kindly alacrity, opened their doors to such of the afflicted as remained, and afforded every comfort in their power. The bodies of the dead were washed by kind hands and many of them taken into dwellings near by. The members of the board of supervisors were early on the ground working like Trojans to recover the dead and give them over to the living. Thirty one bodies of the drowned have been recovered. The search will be continued until all are found.

The damage in the city of Dubuque will not be repaired in many months. It is impossible to estimate the loss.

CHICAGO, July 5.—The Journal's Des Moines, Iowa, special says the latest reports show that the storm of Tuesday night extended throughout most of Central Iowa, and was terrific in effect; that some 25 persons were killed in Warren county alone, that six or eight were killed in Madison county, that probably 60 houses were completely destroyed, as many more badly injured, and that the destruction of crops, fences and animals was immense. The names of killed cannot be obtained—they were mostly wives and children of farmers. Some reports place the number of killed in Warren county alone as high as 40.

CHICAGO, July 7.—A Des Moines, Iowa, special gives further details of the terrible tornado in Central Iowa on Tuesday night. It appears that the facts are much worse than first reported. Mrs J. P. Morton and child were both killed; Charles Flagler, badly injured; E. S. Bramble, Mr and Mrs Greaves, Mrs Delry, all badly injured; Samuel Putz and wife badly injured; Mrs. Enderly killed; Mrs. Snowmosty seriously injured. Many families are left without clothing, and the scene is heart-rending. Reports from other parts of Warren county show that the storm was general and disastrous. About fifty houses were blown away and their inmates killed or badly hurt. From Madison, Iowa, reports are equally disastrous. Reports from Norwalk state that the house of Mr. ... was swept away and his wife and three children drowned. Between Winterset and Norwalk eleven persons were killed, seven drowned and four struck by lightning. The devastation is terrible and can not be known until communication is re-established.

Damage by Storms in Missouri.

A special to the Republican says the damage in Adair county to crops and farms by storms on July 3d and 4th is 20,000; injury in other counties by rains and wind is also very great. In some places bottoms are submerged by overflowed streams, and crops destroyed.

CUSTER'S DEFEAT.

Gen. Custer's Defeat—Further Particulars of the Massacre.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The Inter Ocean special under date of Bismarck 1st inst. says information from the Sioux expedition dated Mouth Big Horn, July 1st says: Gen. Custer left the mouth of the Rosebud with 12 companies to follow the Indian trail of a large band of hostile Sioux. They followed in the direction of the Big Horn. The Indians were making for the eastern branch of the Little Big Horn. Gen. Terry, with Gibbon's command of five companies of infantry and four cavalry, started to Big Horn to attack the enemy in the rear. On the morning of the 26th two Crow scouts brought intelligence of the battle of the previous day. On receipt of the news the command commenced its march in a southerly direction, where smoke could be seen, which indicated that Custer had fired the Indian village. Next morning the head of the column entered the plain bordering on the bank of the Little Big Horn, where had recently stood an immense Indian village three miles in length. The ground was strewn with slaughtered horses, cavalry equipments and the dead bodies of nine Indian chiefs. The clothing of Lts. Sturgess and Porter were also found pierced with bullets. Further on was found the body of Lieutenant McIntosh. Just then a scout arrived with the intelligence that the rest was entrenched with the remnant of the Seventh Cavalry on a bluff near by waiting relief. The command pushed on and found Reno with the remainder of seven companies of Reno's command. He had been fighting since Sunday noon, the 25th, until relieved by Terry on the night of the 26th. Terry's arrival caused the Indians to retire. Reno knew nothing of the fate of the other five companies, which had been separated from them on the 24th to make an attack under Custer's command at a point about four miles down the right bank of the stream. Custer had apparently made an attack on the Indians and was compelled to retreat, but was cut off from the main body. They were forced into a narrow recess where horses and men lay slaughtered. Here were found the bodies of Custer, his two brothers and nephew, Mr. Reed, Cols. Yates and Cook and Capt. Smith, all lying in a circle of a few yards and here one after another of Custer's brave command fell. Not a man escaped to tell the tale.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Special dispatches to nearly all papers confirm the dreadful defeat and massacre of Custer's forces. It appears his command and Reno's attacked the camp at different moments, losing the moral effect of simultaneous attack. Reno lost 9. killed and wounded. Custer's command was annihilated. Details show that the command reached the Indian camp on Little Horn June 25th. Major Reno, with three companies, made the attack on the south and was repulsed. Loss, including Lieuts. McIntosh and Hodgson and Dr. DeWolf, 50 men killed and 5 wounded. Reno's command made for the bluff across the river and was saved from instant destruction by the timely arrival of a battalion. Custer with five companies attacked the lower part of the camp. Custer's expedition was ... About 3,000 warriors were engaged and the Indians suffered heavy losses and abandoned an immense stock of supplies. Reno and Gibbon's command entrenched themselves until the evening of the 26th. The men were saved by the opportune arrival of Terry. Custer underestimated the enemy's force, separated his own force, and was defeated in detail. He probably misjudged the time necessary to make the distance between his own and Reno's force, thus losing the effect of simultaneous attack. The survivors of the command remained at the village two days burying the dead and caring for the wounded. The troops fell back to the mouth of Big Horn to bring away the wounded and to refit for future operations.

The Defeat of Custer's Troops Confirmed.

CHICAGO, July 6.—News confirmatory of Custer's fight with the Indians on the Little Horn river has been received at General Sheridan's headquarters.

List of Officers Killed in Gen. Custer's Command.

ST LOUIS, July 6.—A telegram from Gen. Ruggles at St Paul arsenal, to Capt. Greenhalgh, commanding cavalry at the arsenal here, gives the following as names of officers killed in the fight between the Indians and Gen. Custer's command: Gen. Custer, Col. Custer, Col. Keogh, Col. Yates, Col. Cook, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. McIntosh, Lieut. Calhoun, Lieut. Hodgson, Lieut. Reilly, Lieut. Porter, and Lieut. Sturgess. Lieut. Harrington is missing.

Official Report of the Losses.

The following dispatch has been received at the War Department: To Gen. E. D. Townsend, Adjutant General—Capt. Smith of Gen. Terry's staff, telegraphs from Bismarck as follows: Gen. Custer, Capts. Custer, Keogh, Yates and Cook; Lieuts. Smith, McIntosh, Calhoun, Hodson, Kelly, Porter, Sturgis and Crittenden killed. Lieut. Harrington and Assistant Surgeon Lord are missing. Two hundred and sixty one dead have been found, and fifty-two wounded have been brought away.

Custer's Home.

TOLEDO, July 6.—A special to the Blade from Monroe, Mich., the home of Gen. Custer, says the startling news of the massacre of the General and his party by Indians created a feeling of sorrow among all classes. Gen. Custer passed several years of his youth at school at Monroe, and his parents have resided there many years. His wife is the only daughter of Mr. Bacon, a prominent citizen of that place.

The New York Press on Custer's Defeat.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Nearly all the journals have long editorials on the Custer affair and the death of Santa Anna, the two sensations this morning.

The Tribune thinks of the former that after 120 years the tragedy of Braddock's defeat is repeated in a new stage, and under conditions which increase its horror and shame.

The Herald says: Never since the time of the rebellion has there been such a warlike sentiment among a people as that which yesterday found expression on all sides regarding the bloody battle of Little Horn river. On one position all seemed agreed, to wit: That the policy of the government should be made one of deadly aggression, looking to the total extermination of these treacherous Indians of the plains.

Conference at Washington on Indian Affairs.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Gen. Sherman has telegraphed to Secretary Cameron, who arrived this morning, that he will leave Philadelphia to-day for this city. It is probable upon the arrival of Gen. Sherman there will be an immediate conference between the President, the Secretary of War and the General upon the subject of the Indian war.

Action of Congress—Volunteers to be Called For.

Senator Paddock introduced the following bill in the Senate to-day, and gave notice he would to-morrow endeavor to call up the bill for action: Be it enacted, etc., that the President, if he deems it necessary, be, and hereby is authorized to accept the services of volunteers from the State of Nebraska and the Territories of Wyoming, Colorado, Dakota or Utah, to be employed as part of the army of the United States against tribes of hostile Sioux in the Northwest, who have for years defied the authority of the government, and by whose hands, recently, several hundred soldiers, citizens of the United States, have been slaughtered; provided that not more than five regiments of cavalry, infantry, or both, shall be accepted, and that the term of service shall not exceed beyond nine months from the date of enlistment.

Inquiry by the Senate into the Sioux Troubles.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—On motion, the Senate to-day adopted a resolution requesting the President to inform the Senate whether the Sioux Indians made hostile demonstrations prior to the invasion of their territory reservation by gold hunters; whether the present military operations are conducted for the purpose of protecting said Indians in their rights under the treaty of '68, or of punishing them for resisting the violation of that treaty, and whether the recent reports of an alleged disaster to our forces under Gen. Custer in said region are true.

Gen. Sheridan Interviewed.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Gen. Sheridan in an interview yesterday in relation to the recent massacre by Indians at Little Horn river said: "I have sent every man I could spare to that region, even taking troops from ... and Salt Lake. The Government in its wisdom directs the doing certain things in those regions. It directs an expedition into this ... Territory ... an expedition necessary for the development of that country, to do the best we can with our material; but we are in no condition to do the work required of us." Sheridan in answer to a question by a reporter as to what was the reasons of this campaign said: "We are fighting tribes at the special request of the Indian Department. It does nothing now with the War Department at all. You will see on my map where the Indian reservation is. Our purpose is to drive these Indians, who are of the very wildest and most savage sort, down on the reservation. Montana ... is the most ... of our Territories. It is settled by an ... people, among whom are many old soldiers, and it is the ... of our settlements. The ... have been annoying settlers and we are to drive them down on the reserve. You can say that we will do it now or exterminate them."

Mourning at Red Cloud.

OMAHA, July 7.—Information from Red Cloud agency under date of the ... is that a great deal of mourning and uneasiness is manifested by Indians at the agencies. This would seem to confirm the reports of severe loss by Indians in recent engagements.

Resuming Business.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The brokers are back to California street again, but are as yet scarcely in working trim. Business this morning was very flat. A general feeling of fatigue seems to pervade the people and a common expression is, "Glad it's over."

The Turf.

Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather yesterday, quite a concourse of people patronized the Bay District course to witness the trotting race, mile heats, 3 in 5, to harness, between Peanuts, Mulligan, James Lick, Joe and Lady Emma. Betting was very lively, Peanuts having the call throughout and winning in three straight heats in 2:38½, 2:38½ and 2:37. A match trotting race, two miles and repeat, for $1,000 a side, between Gold Note and Jerome, will take place on the new track Saturday.

Effect of the Removal of Revenue Officers.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Press dispatches from Washington, published this morning, reporting upon good authority that the President had demanded the removal of A. B. Clark, special agent of the internal revenue of this city, confirmed by private telegrams. The fact creates much feeling in Republican circles here. Clark has been very active in bringing members of the whisky ring to book, and the action of the President in removing him is considered a decisive victory for the ring, who are in the best of spirits over the event. It is understood in well informed circles that several other officials who have been rather too officious in attempting to straighten out crookedness, will go in a short time, leaving the ring in undisturbed possession of the field. A good deal of evidence has been collected from time to time regarding the operations of the whiskey thieves and their coadjutors, and it is expected that if it is suppressed in any way, it will be brought before the public in another way, when it will be likely to create a sensation.

Exhibition of the Mechanics Institute.

Officers of the Mechanics Institute have begun to prepare the pavilion for the reception of articles for the coming exhibition, which is to open on the 8th of August.

Stanford and Miller Re-Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—John M. Robinson yesterday filed a new complaint in the police court against Leland Stanford and E. Miller, jr., of the Pacific Railroad, charging them with a failure to show him certain reports which he, as a stockholder of the company, claims he had a right to see. Upon this complaint the warrants were issued for the arrests of the accused.

A Boy Beaten by a Chinaman.

About 7 o'clock Wednesday morning a lad aged 15 years, son of Wm. Genstlicks, dealer in furnishing goods, 514 Third street, was knocked down and trampled by an infuriated Chinaman in the vicinity of South Park. Somebody threw a punch at the Chinaman, which hit him, when he turned and attacked the boy. The boy has some internal injuries, which, it is feared, will result fatally. The Chinaman escaped.

Heavy Rains—Damage to Crops.

SACRAMENTO, July 6.—The weather here to-day was, during the morning, very cold. At 3 P. M. rain began and continued until 6 P. M. Considerable rain fell, but no damage is anticipated, as the harvest is all in in this section.

MARYSVILLE, July 6.—It rained from 1 o'clock steadily until this evening. Reports from north and west state that rain had been falling all day; thermometer fell to 68°; sky still cloudy and dark. A large percentage of standing grain has been threshed out and lost by high winds, and still further damage is feared from the rain.

CHICO, July 6.—To-day we have had a great shower in all parts of the county. It is very cool for this season of the year. No damage to wheat.

SHARPSVILLE, July 6.—Weather cold and cloudy. It rained this morning very hard.

OROVILLE, July 6.—It rained to-day, and did considerable damage to crops. Thermometer fell from 108 yesterday to 60 to-day.

The Fourth at Tulare.

TULARE, July 6.—The Fourth was celebrated here with a procession a mile long, barbecue and ball. 2,000 people were present.

Fatally Injured.

OAKLAND, July 6.—Frank McDonald, section man on Central Pacific railroad, was fatally injured by jumping off the local train at Adeline street station last evening.

Drowned.

MONTEREY, July 6.—Mrs. Jalpittax, of Sacramento, was drowned at Cypress Point to-day. She ventured out upon the extreme point of rocks and was swept into the sea by a wave. The body has not yet been recovered.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Dominion Day.

VICTORIA, July 5.—Dominion Day passed off quietly here. Public offices, banks and stores were closed. The chief event of the day was the firemen's picnic, which was largely attended. Burrard Inlet celebrated it with a regatta Saturday night at Granville.

Shooting Scrape.

John Baptist Jenior, a resident of Victoria, who had gone there for the purpose of attending the regatta, was shot by Joseph Fernandez. The trouble arose about money matters, Fernandez being indebted to Jenior. Some hopes are entertained of the wounded man's recovery. Fernandez was arrested, but managed to escape. It is thought he has gone to the United States.

Floods in the Fraser.

The water in the Fraser is reported as falling very fast, but leaving the crops in a deplorable condition. A large amount of damage has been done to the roads and bridges. Telegraph communication with the upper country has been cut off for three weeks, and is not yet restored. The stores belonging to two Canada Pacific railway survey parties is said to have been destroyed by the flood.

The Fourth at Victoria.

The 4th of July was kept as a half holiday and most of the places of business closed in the evening. The Caledonia Society picnic was well attended. The American steamer Gussie Telfair, which arrived from Portland yesterday morning, attempted to fire a national salute but was stopped by the harbor master after the sixth gun was fired.

Polygamy Case Appealed.

SALT LAKE, July 7.—The case of Geo. Reynolds, being the case as regards polygamy, and who was convicted in the district court and sent to two year's imprisonment and $500 fine, was taken to the Territorial supreme court, which has affirmed the decision of the district court. The case has been appealed to the supreme court of the United States.

Excitement over the Custer Massacre.

The citizens here are much excited over the Custer massacre, and parties made an offer to the Secretary of War to raise a regiment of frontiersmen in ten days for the Indian service.

NEVADA.

Fatal Mining Accident.

VIRGINIA, July 6.—This morning John D. Leblonde, a miner in the Imperial mine, was coming up the incline in a giraffe when he raised his head and striking it against a beam, was killed. Deceased leaves a wife and four children.

DEATH OF COL. ENGLISH.—In the Philadelphia Ledger of June 13th, appears an obituary notice of Col. Thos. C. English, who is well known on this northwest coast. He was a native of Pennsylvania, and was appointed to a cadetship at West Point. On his graduation in 1840 he was promoted to a 2d lieutenancy in the 5th infantry, in which he was made captain in 1857. He took part in many of the campaigns against the Indians in California and Washington Territory, and on the breaking out of the rebellion assisted in organizing the 1st regiment Washington Territory volunteers, of which he was Lieutenant-Colonel. In 1863 he was made Major of his old regiment, the 5th, assigned as provost-marshal of Washington Territory, and placed in command of the 1st Washington Territory volunteers. He was breveted Lieut.-Colonel of the 2d infantry in 1865 for meritorious and faithful service and was appointed chief mustering and disbursing officer for the State of Oregon and Washington Territory.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 8, 1876.

MR. TILDEN'S QUALIFICATION.

Four and a half columns of the New York World are devoted to a biographical sketch of Samuel J. Tilden, Democratic candidate for President. From a careful perusal of this voluminous document we have been enabled to make out that Mr. T. was born in New York State; that somewhere away back in the colonial days his ancestors came over from England to America; that he is sixty two years of age, and that he has been a New York politician for somewhat more than forty years. Beyond that, the story is a common place affair such as might be true of any of the hundred talents who devoted himself to politics as a trade. There is, first, an interminable series of incidents wherein it is claimed Tilden beat divers other New York politicians in contests of the tongue, and was vociferously applauded therefor. It is likewise recorded that once on a time, while he was yet in his minority, he wrote a political article of such marvellous power that certain Democratic politicians had it published in a Democratic paper as a campaign document. All this does not strike one as very wonderful. Indeed, the feat is one which any well-crammed student might perform, and which hundreds of them have performed many a time for a ten dollar fee at the "instance and request" of some political sham who was in want of ideas with which to make a respectable showing before the public. Possibly the fact that a man has, in the course of a long career as a professional politician, made some successful speeches, and written some documents which his party friends considered good enough for publication, may be a sufficient recommendation, in the absence of anything better, to secure his election to the Chief Magistracy of the Republic; but we opine such is not the case. It must be Tilden as the reformer and Reformed Democrat, or else some other man than Tilden, who can secure the suffrages of the American people for that high position. Merely that he has talked, on some special occasion, to the entire satisfaction of those who from party relationship were ready to be satisfied with anything he might say, is not a reason why he should be chosen, and not a reason why he will be chosen. There are hundreds and thousands of men all over this broad land who possess these qualifications for the office in as high a degree as Mr. Tilden, but who are unfit for a place in the Lower House of a State legislature, let alone the Presidency of a government of over 40,000,000 of people. The supporters of Mr. Tilden should be able to place his claims on higher ground than this, or they should preserve a discreet silence.

THE JOURNAL ON THE SMELLERS.

The Evening Journal affects to think the OREGONIAN, in criticising the demonstration of joy among the Democrats at the prospect of connecting the President with the whisky ring, based its remarks upon the simple fact that witnesses had been subpoenaed to carry on that investigation. The Journal knows better than that. The OREGONIAN has always maintained that all officers from the highest to the lowest, should be subject to investigation. It is not the investigation that is objectionable, but the irrepressible joy of the investigators at the bare possibility of finding out facts which will disgrace the nation. It is not enough for them to subpoena witnesses, but when they have taken that very proper step toward a thorough investigation of the case, instead of pushing forward their work and ascertaining the truth of the matter they begin at once to bubble and "slop over" with happiness which they derive from the fact that they "expect to be able" to connect the President with the frauds. Able to do that glorious thing! That is the point upon which their thoughts concentrate. The getting at the truth, is not a matter of so much consequence as to excite the enthusiasm of the Democracy, but when there appears a prospect of connecting the President with it and disgracing the country in the eyes of the world, that is a matter so peculiarly enjoyable in itself, and above all so fraught with glory to the Democratic party that the Democratic countenance is all aglow and the Democratic tongue involuntarily lisps the sweet [illegible] that the committee hope to be able to apply the missing link and shame the whole country. The Journal, or any other Democratic paper, does itself no credit when it attempts a disingenuous defense of such unworthy conduct.

Tilden's friends claim a good war record for him and say that it was at his urgent request that Gen. McClellan in 1864 in his letter of acceptance repudiated the peace plank in the Chicago Democratic platform. The facts capable of being verified are that the peace resolution was originally introduced in the platform committee by Clement C. Vallandigham, was objected to by the rest of the committee as impolitic in form and expression, and was changed from its original form to that in which it was finally adopted. In that form it had Mr. Tilden's entire assent, he being a member of the Convention. If it is true that Tilden afterwards advised McClellan to repudiate that plank in the platform which he [illegible] helped to frame it only proves the duplicity of the man.

Samuel J. Tilden, with his six millions of railway stocks, is surely just the man the people want for a President. He will be so zealous in his labors to relieve the country from the grasp of the railway corporations. We can think of no other man so well heeled for a contest with the transportation monopolies. It will be so like human nature and so like the nature of Mr. Tilden especially for him to lend a cordial support to measures for subjecting the corporations—in which he owns the six millions of stock—to the same legal control that individuals are subjected to. On this [illegible] Tilden is just the [illegible].

The [illegible] decent and respectable church scandal we have noticed for some time has its local habitation at Philadelphia. The pastor [illegible] of the [illegible] is charged with repeatedly [illegible] sermons as his own which had been preferred from other people, and a committee of investigation says it is true. In comparison with the Brooklyn scandal, the Jersey City case and all the numerous others which have afflicted the churches during the last few years this affair is so perfectly respectable that it should be made a special feature of the Centennial Exposition.

We owe an apology to Mrs. Nellie Curl and to the Alumni Association of Willamette University for not sooner publishing her poem which appears this morning. We have been compelled to lay it aside [illegible] in our columns by reason of the constant pressure of news matter such as could not be postponed. The poem, however, loses nothing of its interest by lapse of time.

Up to the 19th of June the total cash admission to the Centennial celebration grounds were $[illegible],000 and the admissions of all classes 1,278,000. This is said to be almost an exact parallel of the admissions at the Vienna Exposition for the same length of time, which considering the general business depression is a very encouraging showing.

While Tilden was at Chicago helping the Democratic convention to frame a platform declaring the war a failure and demanding its discontinuance at the sacrifice of the Union, Hayes was at the front fighting the battles of his country. That contrast ought to determine the public mind as to which of the two should be chosen President.

The California rifle team may be set down for the championship of the world, they having won in the contest at Philadelphia yesterday.

That eloquent Democratic orator and oracle Dan Voorhees mildly calls Tilden a "Wrecker of railroads and a political huckster."

MARRIED:

FRUIT! {SAVE YOUR} FRUIT

BUY A "PLUMMER"

FAMILY DRYER.

WE ARE NOW RECEIVING A LARGE NUMBER of orders for these Dryers. We manufacture six different sizes of the Circular kind and two of the new Upright kind patented Jan. 18, 1876. For $300 we guarantee to do one fourth as much work as a $2,000 Alden Dryer, and for $600 we guarantee to do as much as any Alden Dryer in this State. We also guarantee to do as good work as the Alden as our Fruit has been thoroughly tested and pronounced No. 1, selling readily in this market at as good figures as the Alden. Now, if you let your fruit rot this year it is your own fault, as the price is will in the reach of all.

Send in your orders immediately as the season is upon us and we will soon have the golden harvest and rebuke this Alden monopoly and buy Dryers manufactured in your own State, where you can see the parties who manufacture them.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

College vs. Pioneers—Final Game.

The final ball game for the medals and championship of the State was played yesterday forenoon on the grounds situated between Eighth and Ninth and Market and Mill streets. Long before the time set for the game to commence, the ground in the vicinity was crowded with anxious spectators. There was a very large number of ladies present who took an interest in the game. It is safe to estimate the large crowd present as witnesses numbered about 1,500 persons. In the streets near the grounds there was a number of vehicles, carriages, hacks, wagons, etc., all loaded with passengers to view the contest. The majority of persons constituting the concourse present at the game yesterday were Portlanders, who, of course, cheered their favorite club at times for encouragement, and though a great many applauded the frequent good plays of the College nine, it was evident that their friends and companions were represented on the grounds in much less numbers than on Thursday—many having returned to Salem. The day was auspicious—clouds obscured the sun's hot rays, and a cool breeze blowing combined to render the time excellent for playing purposes, and the players seemed pleased that such was the case. After a few preliminaries, such as clearing the diamond field of spectators, quieting the multitude, and getting balls and bats ready, the umpire, Mr. F. W. Biers, of the Spartan club, at 10:25, announced that the game would begin, the Pioneers having the first inning. Everybody anxiously watched for the first movements, well knowing that the clubs being so nearly equal, the result of the game might depend on any little thing. These players composed the nines: Pioneers—Matthews c, Ridgley p, Lownsdale s s, Wilcox 1 b, Thompson 2 b, Hoyt 3 b, Raleigh l f, Whiting c f, Drummond r f. College—Coleman c, Belt p, McCully (J.) s s, Moores 1 b, McCully (F.) 2 b, Baskett 3 b, Rickey l f, Peebles c f, Miller r f. Everything was announced as ready. R H Thompson was the first batter. He made first base on called ball, followed by Lownsdale who made a safe hit over third bringing Thompson home with the first tally, Lownsdale making second. Lownsdale soon scored a run, owing to a wild throw of the College. John Raleigh wins first, then runs to second and third, and Ridgley knocks a good ball in left field bringing Raleigh safely home. Ridgley skillfully earns third, but trying to make home on a small hit to third by Hoyt, is put out, as the College third baseman nips Hoyt's knock and catches Ridgley, assisted by Coleman and prevents him getting home, although Hoyt gets to first. Matthews sends a far ball towards left, earning first, and helping Hoyt to second, who, however was put out while running to third. Drummond went out on a foul to the catcher, leaving Whiting and Matthews on bases, thus closing the inning. Baskett, of the College, made a short hit and was put out by Ridgley. Peebles gets to first on three called balls. Moores makes three strikes, catcher misses the ball and he gets to first, Peebles to second. Frank McCully sent the ball swiftly spinning to right field, which passed the guardian of that position, thus bringing in Peebles, Moores and his own tally. Miller gets to first, Belt sends an easy ball to Lownsdale, who catches it and throws it wide of Thompson on second, thus letting Miller get third, Belt second. Coleman strikes and gets to first as Hoyt throws from third to first, the ball passing the base; Coleman attempted to run third, but Wilcox quickly threw the ball to Hoyt, who put Coleman out. J. McCully went out on a foul fly, closing the College inning. Wilcox sent a splendid high fly to left and "got left" on it, as B. D. Rickey captured it in fine style with one hand. Thompson wins first, then gets to second as Lownsdale goes to first on called balls. Thompson makes third and tries home, but the ball is passed home and Thompson is accorded a tally by the umpire;—some questioning at the time as to the correctness of the decision. Lownsdale gets to second, then third, and tries home, as Ridgley earns first by a hit, but L. is put out. Hoyt sent a high fly away over center, bringing in Raleigh's and Ridgley's tallies, and winning a run home himself, though escaping narrowly by a bad throw made to third. Matthews, Whiting and Drummond make their bases, Matthews getting a tally. Wilcox hits a small ball, captured by Belt who cornered Whiting on his "home"-ward journey, and thus closed the inning. Rickey was put out by a foul to Matthews, Baskett sends a fine ball to second base, and gets to first, then second. Peebles was put out by Lownsdale, who captured his strike and sent the ball to first. By sharp playing, Baskett wins home, making the only run for the inning, as Moores immediately after resigned the bat, as Thompson gently embraced his "fly." Score is now 8 to 6 in favor of the Pioneers. Thompson, Drummond and Wilcox scored runs but Lownsdale, Raleigh and Ridgley scored—outs, as the Pioneers went to the field again. During this inning, Rickey captured a splendid "fly," receiving loud applause. The interest constantly kept increasing. The College were credited but two runs on the third inning, and this nerved them to extra effort, in consequence, the result of the next inning of the Pioneers was indicated in the score books by an "0," the first animal of this kind that had appeared, though anxiously expected and desired by many, who feared from appearances the game would be a protracted one and the score would be immensely large; but after this little episode, both clubs seemed to recollect that they used to see these interesting little "whitewash" indications in "Auld lang syne," so thereafter the result of the innings were more satisfactory to those who desired to see a close game. The Pioneers determined to show folks how they played when they were aroused; so, owing mainly to Ridgley's excellent pitching, (we suppose that's the proper name for it,) the College boys went to the field after their next inning, while, as before, the scorers put a little "o" down, though this time at the foot of their inning. As the game drew to a close the excitement kept growing stronger, and when the College went to the field for the last time and the Pioneer boys came in for the last inning, the latter club being ahead by 17 to 14, tumultous applause sounded from every side, and cries of "hurrah," and like exclamations rent the air, and joyful ones jumped up and down and threw their hats in the air in exultation. The Pioneers made two runs on their last inning. Mr Biers made this official announcement at the close of the game, and after the crowd, which surged and jammed around the scorers had been quieted, saying, "I hereby declare the Pioneer club of Portland, winner of this game and the Centennial base ball medals, by a score of 19 to 14." Owing either to the excitement occasioned by the loud and prolonged shouting and yelling immediately following this announcement, or to carelessness or indifference on the part of the Pioneers, they omitted to cheer their defeated contestants until a Salem gentleman had called forth applause for the winning club—the Pioneers—but when the College club was cheered there was a universal joining in the shouts.

The Pioneers owe much of their success to the change they recently made of a baseman. Ridgley never pitched better, and his swift delivery was universally commended. Capts Belt and Thompson managed their clubs admirably. Rickey, Moores, Coleman, Belt and McCully of the College played very well, as did most all that nine. Among the Pioneer nine the playing of Thompson, Ridgley, Hoyt, Matthews and Wilcox was most noticed, though the other players, especially Lownsdale, helped very materially to the success of the nine. Many times during the contest the clubs were loudly cheered by admiring spectators.

Below we present the score of the most important game that residents of Oregon ever have witnessed.

Umpire—F W Biers of the Spartans Vancouver

Scorers—College F E Hodgkin Pioneers, [illegible] Lonando

Some dispute arose during the game, but the four cons, just and fearless umpire we never have seen his superior, and by some of the players, satisfactorily settled every one, and the umpire's judgments all approved.

After the game, the Pioneers invited their friendly players to a dinner prepared at the Occidental, where all disagreements were settled and everybody made happy. Many of the most prominent players of the two clubs—College and Pioneers—inform us that their base ball days close with this season.

We are glad to record that the close of one of the best games, in our opinion, that has ever been played in our State, has been so fraught with friendly sentiments and interchange of kind regards between all the players, and has been decided and agreed upon so as to admit of no quibbling whatever.

The Great Race.

No better day, as to the weather, could be desired than was had yesterday for the great race at the East Portland trotting course. The crowds began to assemble early in the day and before two o'clock over 2000 people were on the track. There was a manifest increase in the interest as well as the attendance, and both pool selling and betting on the side were lively, and a much larger sum of money than ever on a single race in Oregon, changed hands. Billy Bigham, who had been favorite in the pools rather gave that place to Osceola. The range of pools toward the close stood about as follows: Osceola 40, Bigham 25, Ophir 15, Rye Straw 10, Butralph 10, with occasionally a wide deviation by some man who had more faith in Bigham.

The judges chosen were S. G. Reed, J. B. Keeney and E. McDaniel, distance judges, John Ladd, M. A. King and E. Hamason timers, John Green, L. B. Lindsay and P. D. W. Hardenburg, starter, Levi Knott.

At twenty-five minutes before 3 o'clock the horses were brought on the track. Ophir was the first horse to make his appearance. He is a compactly and strongly built horse, of full age, though without a record. He requires a good deal to wake him up, but when all there is in him is brought out, we believe he will be found no unworthy son of his celebrated sire. After him came Billy Bigham, with his ears set forward and his eyes intent on the objects upon the track. He is too well known to need any description, but we could not help noting his demeanor on the track. He watches every movement of the other horses before the start with all the intelligence of a human being; nothing in motion on the track escapes his eye. He appeared on this occasion without any useless flesh on him, and as the sequel proved, in the best condition for the race. His appearance was greeted with some applause. Osceola came next, and though he came without any visible signs of anything wrong with him, he did not manifest that spirit which he usually displays, and though having no especial favorite in any of the horses, we thought when he came on the track that he was likely to disappoint his friends, of which he has a great many. His rider had him in excellent command, and handled him very skillfully. Rye Straw, a fine four-year old with some of the coltish gait yet about him, came out looking well and stepping proudly, but with rather too much flesh to carry for the work before him. Butralph, not so well known to Portland turfmen, came last upon the track, and made a favorable impression by his form and movement. He is a long, cleanly built horse, with lots of muscle and but little extra flesh. He is a beautiful bay, and was the handsomest horse on the track.

In drawing for positions Ophir got the pole, Butralph second, Billy Bigham third, Ryestraw fourth and Osceola outside. Being called for the start, the horses came up to the wire well together on the fourth score except Ryestraw, who was thirty feet back, and got a very bad send off. Osceola took the lead on the first quarter and kept it well to the half mile post when Bigham, Ophir and Butralph began to come up with him with Ryestraw and Ophir still far in the rear. Down the home stretch on the first mile they came like the wind. Osceola passed under the wire first in 1:52, Butralph second, Ophir third, Bigham fourth, and Ryestraw doing good work but not yet recovered from his failure at the start. Entering on the second mile, there was soon seen the fact that Bigham's friends were justified in backing him to the extent they did, for he came squarely to his business and began to crowd Osceola fearfully, coming alongside of him on the first half and passing him at the post and leading him by considerable at the three quarters. Butralph also showed out and coming down the home stretch he came in ahead of Osceola and a good second to Bigham, who won the heat in 3:452. Osceola was third, Ryestraw fourth and Ophir last.

The second heat was called on time and a good deal of trouble was had in getting the horses off. After several ineffectual scores in which the difficulty seemed to be with Osceola and Butralph, the bell tapped and all but Osceola went off quite evenly. He stood some distance back and the starter attempted to call them back, but the bell rope caught and the trainers of the four horses claimed that it was a start. The rope was soon loosened and by a vigorous ringing of the bell all but Brigham were persuaded back. He went on round and his trainer started him on the second mile, when the judges informed him that he could have five minutes to get ready to start again. After going to the quarter post, Bigham came back, and when the five minutes were up the five horses all came to the scratch, all showing good spirit, but Osceola and he was dull, he evidently was not in running trim. This second attempt to start was more successful and the five animals went off pretty well together, though Rye Straw was again sluggish in this part of the business. This whole heat was in Bigham's own control after the first half mile, when he took the lead and held it steadily throughout, Butralph and Rye Straw forging along in good style but never being able to get any dust on him. Ophir was a fourth from the start, while Osceola seemed to fall from the start, and on the first half of the last mile went to grass by a dead halt. The first mile was made in 1:51 and the heat won by Bigham with all ease by four lengths in 3:461, Butralph second, Rye Straw third, Osceola and Ophir distanced. This closed the race in Bigham's favor, and loud cheers greeted him as he came up to the judges' stand looking little wearied with his great work.

The above race was necessarily a square contest and those who were unfortunate in backing the losers had no fault to find.

RACES TO DAY.

To day there will be some rare sport to close the week's races, and a large crowd will probably be on hand to witness it. In addition to the trotting race announced in the Centennial programme, Owens & Holton proprietors of the course, offer a purse of $100 without entrance fee, free to all horses that have been beaten on the track.

This will let all in that are present except Billy Bigham, that may desire to enter, and quite a number will take advantage of it. The race will be running, single dash of 1½ miles. Gentlemen will be admitted to the track at half price and ladies free. There will probably be as much real amusement and interest in the races to day as any heretofore, and as Saturday is a good day for it, the crowd will probably be very large.

Rifle Shooting.

As advertised, the target shooting came off yesterday at the Park, in the western suburbs of the city, under the management of the committee Messrs Dilg, Auer and Anderson. The contest was announced to come off at 10 o'clock in the forenoon but owing to a mutual misunderstanding the entries were not closed until 2 P. M. However, it was decided by the committee having the contest in charge that the shooting could commence at once and continue until all those entering had tested their skill. Shortly after 2 o'clock the sport began and was kept up with occasional intermission until 6 o'clock. Each contestant was allowed three shots. No rule was enforced by the committee requiring the contestants to shoot in regular order but every one was permitted to fire when he got ready or felt so disposed. Contestants were allowed to exercise their own choice could either shoot three times in succession or at [illegible] interval. The distance was 200 yards. In front of the targets, that were two [illegible], was dug all along a [illegible] ter from the leaden missile. Two persons were stationed in this trench to indicate the result of each shot. When a shot was fired the person in the trench would point to the spot where the ball had taken effect, so that all could plainly see what part of the target had been perforated. Almost immediately later, a large piece of board on which was painted figures would be displayed into view. The figure indicated the score commencing at a point [illegible] from the center of the target, or bull's eye, the board was measured toward the middle. Thus the outer edge was marked by the figure "1," and so on, the middle being marked "12." Any shot falling between these points would be designated by the figures 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, etc., as the case might be. To entirely miss the target, the contestant would be scored 0. No. 1 was next worst shot, while 12 was the best. A small wire extended from where the marksman stood to the target, where it was attached to a bell. As soon as a shot had been fired, the wire was pulled and the bell tapped. This was to apprise the person at the target that the danger was over, and to enable him to take the measurement and to announce the result. A red flag displayed indicated that the "bull's eye" had been struck, and to swing a signal stick to and fro in front of target three times indicated a "clear miss." Only a few spectators were present, but that fact did not tend in the least to abate the interest, or make the contest any the less sharp and spirited. Before shooting commenced a number of entrances were made and continued up to the hour when they were declared closed by the committee. The following is the score:

Mr. Jas. McKay, having made the best score (25), won the Centennial gold medal.

C. A. Francis and J. S. Hughes, having made "tie shots," (each 23), were required to "match off" in order to decide the matter. The result was in favor of Hughes, who is entitled to receive the second prize—an "XL" silver plated, ivory handle, engraved revolver, presented by Wm Beck & Son.

Third prize—"XL" revolver, silver plated, ivory handled; presented by F. N. Auer, won by C A Francis.

Fourth prize—Handsome shotpouch and powder flask; presented by Dilg Bros, won by a tie shot between W. G. Beck and O. P. Mason, each having scored 22, to be decided by them hereafter.

Fifth prize—A pair of Chamois horns, presented by S. Hellock, will be awarded to either Mason or Beck.

The committee having the contest in charge conducted it with impartiality and to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. Mr. Julius Dilg acted as scorer.

Prize Military Drill.

Last evening at 5 o'clock the military drill for the gold medal came off at the base ball grounds, corner of Eighth and Market. The Washington Guard was the only military company which entered for the prize drill. About 4.30 o'clock that company left their armory in full uniform and marched to the grounds. Major Boyle and Capt. Wilkinson were chosen judges. After waiting some time, and finding that no other company put in an appearance, the judges concluded to proceed with the drill. The company was put through a number of evolutions, the manual of arms and exercises generally in military tactics. There were about thirty-five men in the company. The drill lasted but a short time, and at the close, the judges declared the Washington Guard the winner of the gold medal. Major Boyle took occasion to compliment the members of the company on their fine soldierly appearance and the proficiency they had acquired in the exercise of arms. The judges also inspected the arms and accoutrements of the company and found everything bright, clean and in excellent condition. After the drill was over, headed by the Northwestern Band, the company marched down to where the exercises were held Tuesday, when they went through a number of evolutions and then marched down to their armory.

Skating and Dancing.

In place of the open air concert, announced to be given at the grand stand on the Centennial grounds last evening, a ball was held. Soon after the Washington Guard had finished going through a number of military exercises and marched away, the grand stand was illuminated, cleared of the seats and a number of persons engaged in the agreeable pastime of skating. When wearied of this sport, the music struck up and large numbers indulged in the mazy art. These out door exercises attracted an immense crowd and were continued until a late hour.

Billiard Tournament.

The closing games of the tournament took place at Masonic Hall last evening. As the players had become better acquainted with the table and each other, much better playing was noted. Davies and Wilhelm opened the ball with an exciting game, the former leading up to 30, when Davies drew up and took the lead winning by only one point.

Harding and Prang played an alternating game. The former had 40 to the other's 33, with everything apparently his own way, when Prang made eleven and closed with 41, with chances to win but for a bad break; leaving his competitor an opportunity to make the necessary two to win, which he gained and won. The most exciting game of the series followed, between Longstreet and Davies. The former played with extreme cautiousness, never losing an opportunity to make a shot if possible to avoid missing it, and generally playing safely, having the balls, as in his previous games, badly broken for Davies. The latter kept the lead after reaching the thirties, and got up to 49 and there remained, while his antagonist gradually drew up within two, and then making a miscue, left a safe shot for Davies, who had made several ineffectual attempts to get the solitary point, which Josh accomplished and closed amid cheers, winning the prize medal.

Harding and Longstreet now came together for the first time. The former gained quite a lead and kept it up, reaching 47, and it seemed that the game was within his grasp. Longstreet, with 35 to his credit, pulled through with 15 points, to the astonishment of the audience and the chagrin of his competitor, and won the game—thus, by winning, gained second place, and also having the best general average, won the second and third prizes. Wilhelm and Prang closed the tournament with a poorly played game, neither caring for the result. Prang, however, in this game, made the best run of the series—18 points. The game closed in Wilhelm's favor. Below is a table of the last five games, the general averages and the record of each player.

AMUSEMENTS.

Matinee at New Market Theater this afternoon.

Don't fail to see the California Minstrels this evening and at the matinee. They gave a capital bill last night to a large and appreciative audience, and will give two more before departing for the Sound. Remember this is the last opportunity of seeing a first class company. Don't fail to improve the chance.

Circus.—The Italian circus pavilion at the corner of Morrison and Fifth streets, was crowded last evening, and a very attractive entertainment given. The last performance will be given this evening. A matinee performance will take place this afternoon for ladies and the little folks. This is the last opportunity which the public will have of witnessing a capital performance.

PERSONAL.

Mr. F. W. Pettygrove an old pioneer of this State, will take his departure this morning for his home at Port Townsend. Col. Cris Taylor will also return to his home in Dayton today. These old pioneers have been spending Centennial week in Portland and report having experienced a splendid time.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A. S Gross, broker, has returned to Pittock's block.

New "ad" of Clarke & Henderson to-day. Read it.

Marx & Jorgensen have just received a large importation of St. Louis lager beer, also wines and whiskies of the best brands.

Skating this evening at the Museum.

Osceola did not win the big race but "Mercer" continues to sell the very best brands of imported and domestic cigars to be had in the city. Oro Fino block.

Beck & Waldman keep up their reputation for fair dealing. You should call on them when you want a fine suit at a moderate price, and furthermore be able to select from a large stock. By all means call on them.

The champion skaters will have a match this evening at the Museum. Admission, 25 cents.

Rider & Hersey, of the Aurora restaurant, announce that, as the rush is over and the price of necessaries consequently reduced, they are again prepared to furnish meals at the former charge—25 cents.

The Centennial is over, and our country cousins, as well as the city folks, have had an abundance of amusements. All who have paid a visit to Jos. Kohn's clothing house express themselves thoroughly satisfied with the manner in which he treated them.

A Hundred Years Ago.

A hundred years have fled
Since "Liberty" was won,
When valiant blood was shed,
And gallant deeds were done.

Look back one hundred years,
The galling fetters see,
A nation bathed in tears,
And struggling to be free.

See now, how great our power,
We fear no bitter foes,
To the "Abbey" by day and hour
Each happy smoker goes.

We wish our friends and patrons a glorious "Fourth" and especially invite them to call and select from our fine stock of cigars, tobacco and fruit.

WILSON & SPECK,
Abbey Cigar Store, 47 First street.

A plucky Maine woman had twenty-four teeth extracted the other day without using anæsthetics of any kind. But her voice ever since has been a "false-set-oh" one. This pun is as bad as Fishel & Roberts' new styles of clothing are good.

A LETTER.

Dr. Wightman—Dear Sir: Since using your "Process" I have been entirely free from the Hemorrhoids or Piles, and with the exception of two or three times I have never felt any symptoms of them, then it was entirely my own fault. God knows I have had reason to feel thankful for the great good your Valuable Remedy has been to me. Yours truly,

J. M. BACON, P. M.,
Oregon City.

The Wightman Process will be sent to parties living at a distance, C. O. D., by Express. Rooms on Third street, between Washington and Alder. Letter enclosing stamp will be promptly answered. Postoffice box 247, Portland, Oregon. DR. C. F. WIGHTMAN.

THE PLUMMER FRUIT DRYER AT THE CENTENNIAL.

Philadelphia, June 15, 1876.

W S Plummer, Esq.—Dear Sir: Please send me, immediately, full description of your process for fruit drying; also diagrams of your machine. They are needed for information for foreign commissioners, who take a deep interest in your fruit on exhibition.

A. J. DUFUR,
Commissioner for Oregon.

Plummer's Family Fruit Dryers will be on exhibition on one of the principal streets in Portland during Centennial week, where he will take orders for Dryers and explain the simplicity of its workings. All should see this dryer, as there is to be ten thousand dollars put up between this and the Alden Dryer at our next State Fair. Both dryers are to be erected and operated on the fair grounds this fall.

HAIR RESTORED.

If any who are skeptical of the ability of Mrs. S. Lord to produce a crop of new hair in all stages of baldness will call or write to her at her rooms in National Bank building, Portland, she will refer them to several prominent Portland gentlemen who three months since placed themselves under her treatment and are now in possession of a crop of new fine hair which is rapidly increasing in strength and vigor. Itching of the scalp and falling hair checked readily. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington.

How will a war in Europe affect us? It is not likely to increase the price of Noble Whisky, although the demand is increasing rapidly at H. Fleckenstein's, 117 First street.

W. L. Adams, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. Is extraordinarily successful in treating female complaints.

Revive the Drooping Energies.

When the physical energies droop, revive them with that safest and most active of tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By a timely use of this salutary and agreeable medicine you will save yourself from positive disease, for, be assured that the languor and loss of strength and appetite which troubles you is in fact the precursor of some malady of, perhaps, a serious nature. Appetite, tranquillity of the nervous system, and pristine vigor, will assuredly be restored if the Bitters are used systematically, and the alimentary disturbance, which in nine cases out of ten gives rise to debility and nervousness, be entirely removed. Regularity of the bowels, active biliary secretion and expulsion of impurities from the blood through the kidneys, and also among the beneficent effects of this admirable restorative.

CORNS AND BUNIONS

Extracted and cured by Dr. Halphauer, Chiropodist, without causing pain or lameness. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders left at Jos. Kohn's clothing store, First street, will be promptly attended to.

PLEASURE BOATS.

JOHN LACHAPELLE, Boat Builder is prepared to furnish Boats for Sale or Rent at any moment. Boat house Foot of Pine street.

MRS. DR. B. A. OWENS,

SATURDAY MORNING JULY 8, 1876

HESPERIA

BY MRS. NELLIE [illegible]

[[illegible] at [illegible] of Alumni of Willamette.]

Near Pacific's wave washed [illegible]
Where dark mountains [illegible] and tall,
With [illegible] for tresses
Rise like sentry guard [illegible]
[illegible]
Charmed by [illegible] the West
[illegible]
With a garland on her breast
And a stream like liquid silver
Leaping from the mountain's [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Mountains [illegible]
Oriental [illegible]
While their heaven [illegible]
Kiss the [illegible]
Blooming flowers and warbling fountains
[illegible]
[illegible]
Rival the Hesperian art
Stately [illegible] proudly
With [illegible] and woodland fir,
Always [illegible] beauty,
[illegible] artless grandeur there
And a symphony entrancing
Trembles on [illegible] lyre
As the [illegible]
[illegible] to the sylvan [illegible]
But throughout this fair Alhambra
With its rhythmic waterfall
With its wild entrancing beauty
[illegible] fountain wall
Dwell no [illegible] to adore it,
Bow no knees in Christian homes,
Here no temples pure and holy
Rear their consecrated domes
But the wild barbarian rambles
With his quiver and his bow,
Here his fiendish laughter echoes
Gloating o'er his tortured foe,
While the flames light up the darkness
With a lurid fitful glare,
As the death song of the victim
Floats upon the pitying air
Here proud chieftains in the mazy dance
Revel 'neath Selene's beams,
And the light canoe and paddle
Echoes on the rippling streams,
And the tale of love and valor,
Whispered 'neath the listening leaves,
Charms the heart of forest maiden
Till her loving bosom heaves.

But a Christian band heroic
Scales at length the guarded walls,
And o'er stream, and vale, and hill top,
Now a mystic glory falls,—
Lo! we come to bless, enlighten
You our brothers of the wild,
E'en as Christ blessed little children—
O, receive it as a child
Give us of thy trees, O mountains,
Give us cedar, fir and pine,
Give us of thy power, O waters,
That our deeds may be divine.

Now we see as if by magic,
Cities with their towers and fanes,
And the golden grain grows gleaming
O'er the hills and flowery plains
Here proud halls of learning woo us
To their Philomathic shades
In our souls a rapture enters
And a light that never fades
Where barbaric darkness hovered
And its Upas tainted breath
Withered each fair bud of knowledge,
Since its beauteous bloom with death,
Science rears her throne eternal,
Waves her scepter o'er the land,
Muses from their realms supernal
Sweep the lyre with skillful hand;
Art's creative touch awakens
Forms harmoniously divine,
In the glow of breathing beauty
Rise they form her mystic shrine.
And to-night in Alma Mater,
With our hearts too full for speech,
Hands long severed clasps each other,
Speaking eyes look each in each;
Here we meet beloved teachers—
Architects of human souls,
Time, whose chariot crushes dreamers,
Mars no[illegible] them as on it rolls.
We would have a coronation
And the jeweled crowns of gold,
We would place upon their temples
With the royal pomp of old,
But we see already glowing
On their honored brows to-night,
Crowns, empyreal luster throwing
Fill these hallowed halls with light
Cherished classmates! here to greet us
In these halls, with memory rife,
Of our youthful dreams all golden
With the glow of [illegible] strife,
But how much each has been winner
In the battle for the right,
Or how much the oppressor triumphed,
We will ask not here to-night
But we'll sepulcher each sorrow
On this glad reunion day,
And upon no coming morrow
May we roll the stone away

While with pleasure hearts are bounding,
Cypress-shaded mounds arise,
And we miss sweet tones long silent,
And the thrill of love lit eyes
Forms long vanished rise before us,
In their youthful beauty a bloom
Phœbus like they hover o'er us
All our darkness to illume

* * * * * * *

O, fair Pauline, we see thee now
With classic brow so bright
We miss the glance of thy dark eye,
Illumed with genius bright,
We hear the melody swell forth
From chambers in thy soul,
But ah! "the silver chord is loosed,"
And broke the golden bowl
O, why in early womanhood,
So blest with friends and worth—
Apollo tuned thy golden harp—
Why didst thou pass from earth?
And Addie too, so young and fair,
With eyes cerulian blue,
We see the sunlight on thy hair,
We feel thy love so true.
O, Addie, deeply do we mourn
Thy sad untimely fate,
Minerva's shield thou might'st have borne
'Mid armies of the great.
And one, whose genius shed bright rays
Where e'er his labors led,
He, too lays down his fresh culled bays
And bows his youthful head
For him the amaranth was brought
To crown his brow once more,
But he its glory sets at naught,
Far on the golden shore,
Arrayed in robes of heaven wrought light,
A [illegible] form appears
She wears the crown that grows not dim
Through all the eternal years
She beckons him with eyes that beam
Across the narrow tide,
Entranced with love he leaps the stream
To greet his angel bride
O sisters! brother classmates dear,
Why in your youthful years
Were ye called home, while we full oft
Must sow and reap in tears?

* * * * * * *

Time with pinions strong and fateful,
From each dear departed shade,
Hurries us to scenes of labor
Where the living [illegible]
There are vineyards clothed in purple,
There are fields of ripening grain,
And the reaper waits not for us
While we loiter on the plain
Lotus trees no bread afford us,
Heaven's manna comes not down,
Folded hands that scorn to labor
Never seize the victor's crown
Rust and dust can tarnish only
Where [illegible]
And the soul that gathers [illegible]
Must on tireless pinions soar
Age we count by years no longer
Though the bell of time is tolled
Whoso lets his spirit slumber,
He, and he alone, grows old
F[illegible], absorbed in his own greatness
Or the grandeur of the past
While the ceaseless car of progress
On its journey rolling past
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Has [illegible] years [illegible] outgrown
[illegible]
Though of years twere but a score,
[illegible]
[illegible]
Wealth [illegible] dollars
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
If [illegible] wealth of Crœsus
And [illegible] glittering crown,
Who [illegible]
Drawn [illegible] riches down

Though [illegible] Hesperia cannot [illegible]

Of Afric's diamonds shining,
For wealth [illegible] Montezuma's coast
Thou [illegible]
Though far [illegible] thy proud [illegible]

[illegible]
With [illegible] thy [illegible] brow
No [illegible] telling,
O, [illegible] combined
With crowns of glittering splendor
[illegible]
[illegible]
What tongue prophetic can foretell
Thy glorious future [illegible]
What [illegible] tongue shall swell
And [illegible] fields Elysian,
What genius [illegible] in thy hall,
Shall shine in future story
What light reflected on thy walls,
Shall shed immortal glory
What words from works consigned to fame
Evolved by mind supernal,
Shall shrine thy [illegible] name
With classic light eternal?
The mighty Oregon that roars
With wild fantastic dashing,
May lave [illegible] fertile shores,
With Tiber's grandeur flashing
Mount Hood Parnassus like look down
On banners proudly waving,
And warriors [illegible] victory's crown
In freedom's [illegible] living

* * * * * * *

For thou Columbia, fairest land
Since glory crossed the Orient sea,
And with proud heart and fearless hand
Bequeathed her legacy to thee,
Thou smote the shrine of God like power—
Responsive to the mighty stroke,
Gigantic genius woke to tower,
With every prison fetter broke
And on proud Hudson's glassy tide
With swan like gracefulness endowed,
Clearmont sailed forth in queenly pride
Amid enthusiasm loud,
And words with joy or sorrow fraught,
Upon the lightning steed of love
Sped swift o'er many a trackless spot
To tented field or home of love.
And e'en the sea with deep unrest,
And white lips moaning as in pain,
Has found at last a tongue, to attest
The glory of thy fair domain
And like Arabian fairy tale,
A genii in smoke arose,
With whirlwind speed through hill and vale
His studless chariot onward goes
What wonder that at thy command
The elements of might were born,
And as by magic gifted wand
Rose lustrous on thy natal morn?
For thou by Freedom's light alone
Didst to her loftiest heights aspire,
And where her sun in splendor shone,
Didst light thy lamp with quenchless fire

Should darkness o'er thy glory sweep
Thy master minds forsake their dust,
Should Science her neglected weep,
No Phidias rear the immortal bust,
Still brightly on historic page,
When other traces all have flown,
Shall shine the greatness of this age
As Grecian glory glows in stone.

IS NOW OPEN FOR THE RECEPTION OF VISITORS.

J. C. OLMSTED.

BAY VIEW HOUSE,

BAKER'S BAY, UNITY, W. T.

MR. DEXTER INFORMS THE PUBLIC that his House is now open for the reception of guests. Its advantages in every respect over any other Summer Resort are too well known to Oregon fans to repeat here. To strangers I will say that the place is in plain sight and across the Bay from Astoria on the sheltered side of Cape Hancock and very near and adjacent to the Fort and Lighthouse on Baker's Bay a beautiful sheet of water unequaled for sailing, Rowing, Fishing and Bathing. The dark forest with its picturesque drives its mountain springs profusion of wild berries wild flowers and ferns, the Horse trail [illegible] Cape for Equestrians of which [illegible] one of the most delightful [illegible] the cosy beaches its caves luxuriantly wooded Island its views of Astoria Chinook Fort Stevens most old Tillamook [illegible]

The courteous hospitality of the officers of the Garrison at the Fort and also of Mr Munson and family of the Lighthouse make that place well worthy of a visit

The Salt Water Bathing in the bay within a few feet of the hotel [illegible] far [illegible] for warmth of the water and mildness of its waves far preferable to the heavy surf and cold winds for women children and invalids while the sturdy swimmer or those who love the foaming surf in a few minutes walk will find a beach unsurpassed in beauty hard and level for one continuous drive of thirty miles. At this end are huge rocks stretching out into the ocean from which [illegible] take from the sea Bass Rockfish Tom Cod Porgies [illegible] Crabs Clams Oysters &c in abundance and the Table will never lack a sufficiency of those desirable adjuncts. Boats upon the Bay Saddle Ponies for the children Teams to the Weather Beach Croquet Swings Quoits etc FREE to Guests

Prices reduced from the old tariff

To those who would like to camp out wood and water and use of ground free Groceries provisions milk eggs butter etc for sale at a small profit. Campers can board at the Hotel if they prefer at fair rates. A large Livery Stable two new and fine Ten Pin Alleys attached to the place

Stage Office to Oysterville Postoffice Wells Fargo & Co's office also there. No raw winds or damp fogs and more beautiful tracks and shady groves cannot be found. The only regret the Landlord has is that his house is not larger but his grounds are large enough and beautiful enough to warrant next season a Hotel worthy of the surroundings.
